

THE TALE OF TOM KITTEEN

A Pop-Up Book

BASED ON THE ORIGINAL ART AND STORY BY BEATRIX POTTER

Once there were three kittens – Mittens, Tom Kitten, and Moppet. One day their mother, Mrs. Tabitha Twitchit, was expecting company. She scrubbed the kittens' faces, brushed their fur, and dressed them in their best clothes.

She then sent the kittens outside, saying, "Keep your clothes clean!" But Mittens and Moppet got their pinafores dirty and Tom lost his buttons. When they climbed the garden wall, their clothes fell off completely!

Just then three Puddle-Ducks marched by. They picked up the kittens' clothes and put them on. How the kittens
dressed in their clothes!

But when Mrs. Twitchit found her kittens without their clothes, she was very angry. She sent them upstairs and told her guests that the kittens were sick.

In their room, Mittens, Tom Kitten, and Moppet played and chased each other. The guests downstairs wondered how sick kittens could make so much noise.

As for the Puddle-Ducks – they went swimming in a pond. But their new clothes came off, because there were no buttons. And the Puddle-Ducks have been looking for them ever since.
